The history of black Catholics in the archdiocese of St. Louis—a history of resilience and faithfulness despite hardship—is a heritage that we all share. Join Winnie Sullivan as she journeys back to our city's founding to honor the lives and contributions of African American Catholics and others of our ancestors who, early on, sought racial equity in our Church.

Sullivan is a parishioner at St. Francis Xavier (College) Church where she serves on the Pastoral Council, is co-chair of the parish's Antiracism Team, and a member of its Racism and Reconciliation Committee. She is a writer, editor, and publisher who currently is completing a biography of Sister Mary Antona Ebo. F.S.M.
